“We choose freedom.”

WHO WE ARE AND WHAT WE PROVIDE

ABOUT US

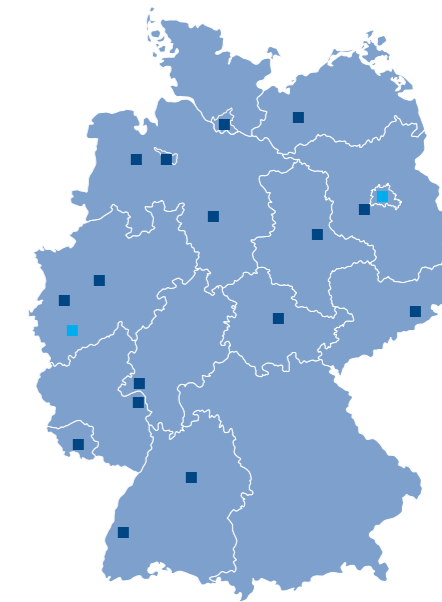

We are a political foundation that is active in 14 forums for civic education and which has five regional offices throughout Germany. Around 100 offices abroad oversee projects in more than 120 countries. Our headquarters are split between Berlin and Sankt Augustin near Bonn.

Konrad Adenauer and his principles define our guidelines, our duty and our mission. The foundation adopted the name of the first German Federal Chancellor in 1964 after it emerged from the Society for Christian Democratic Education, which was founded in 1955.

We promote peace, freedom and justice through civic education at the national and international level. Our primary concerns are strengthening democracy, promoting European integration, expanding transatlantic relations, and increasing development cooperation.

In the following, you can find an introduction to our work. More detailed information is available at www.kas.de.

MISSION: DEMOCRACY!

Political foundations provide services that are in the public interest and do so in a spirit of openness. They are largely financed by funds from the German federal and state level as well as from the European Union.

By carrying out the tasks laid down in our statutes, the Konrad-Adenauer-Stiftung aims to help shape the future of our community. This is particularly important in the face of the current crises that are shaking Germany, Europe and the world at the political, economic and cultural levels.

Our diverse range of services is aimed at encouraging citizens who are interested in politics to participate in society. We all need to seize the opportunity and influence future developments and changes. Year after year, we also help young people to discover and use the opportunities they have to shape their future. One way of doing so is through our scholarship programme.

We want to discuss the issues of our time with you. We want to stress different views and solutions, encourage you to have your say, and to convey a perspective that builds on the fundamentals of our Christian Democratic approach.

We are looking forward to meeting you!
