ANNOUNCEMENTS

THE DUKE OF WESTMINSTER MEDAL FOR MILITARY LITERATURE 2011

Submissions now open

Created with the support of His Grace, The Duke of Westminster's Medal for Military Literature has been awarded annually since 1997. The award is given to a book by a living author, regardless of nationality, gender or age, which makes a notable and original contribution to the study of international and national security and defence.

The winning author will be presented with the Medal and a cash prize of £1000 and invited to deliver a lecture on their work to an invited audience of peers at the Royal United Services Institute for Defence and Security Studies (RUSI).

RUSI is now accepting nominations from authors, agents or publishers, as well as members of the Armed Forces or the Institute, for the 2011 Duke of Westminster's Medal for Military Literature.

If you would like to submit a title for this year's award, please send two copies of the book to:

Professor Michael Clarke
Director
Royal United Services Institute
61 Whitehall
London SW1A 2ET

Closing date
15 February 2011

For further information, please contact John Hemmings, Studies Co-ordinator, at johnh@rusi.org

Building Projects at the Bodleian Libraries

The Bodleian Libraries of the University of Oxford are undertaking a series of major projects to improve our facilities for preserving our collections, supporting researchers, and delivering services to readers. We are endeavouring to deliver an efficient service to our readers during this time but there may be temporary disruption to services. In particular some noisy works will be carried out in the Radcliffe Camera and Old Bodleian Library during the coming year. We will also be moving a substantial proportion of our collections to a new Book Storage Facility at Swindon starting from November 2010 and temporarily closing the New Bodleian Library for extensive refurbishment.

From July 2010 to December 2011 we strongly recommend planning ahead for your research visit. Please contact:

- admissions@bodleian.ox.ac.uk
if you are renewing or applying for a reader's card for the first time;
- enquiries.sc@bodleian.ox.ac.uk
for specific queries about using the Bodleian Libraries' manuscript archives, rare book collections and other special collections;
- reader.services@bodleian.ox.ac.uk
if you have more general research needs or specific queries about the work being carried out.
