

Copyright Information

© Copyright, America Psychiatric Association.

All materials (including but not limited to site layout, design, images, text, and other information; collectively, the "Content") on the psych.org, healthyminds.org, psychfoundation.org, workplacementalhealth.org and DSM5.org domains are the property of the American Psychiatric Association (APA) and are protected by copyright and other intellectual property laws. APA Content may not be copied, modified, reproduced, published, transmitted, displayed, broadcast, or otherwise distributed without written permission from the American Psychiatric Association.

*APA does not authorize re-publication of web site Content on non-APA web sites, rather a link should direct readers to the source page on the APA domain. For other forms of reproduction or re-distribution of APA Content, please follow the instructions on the Permissions & Licensing web page (<http://www.appi.org/permissions.cfx>) of our publishing division, American Psychiatric Publishing, Inc., and submit a completed online permissions questionnaire form.*

Reporting Copyright Infringement

The Digital Millennium Copyright Act, signed into law on October 28, 1998, amended the copyright law to provide limitations for service provider liability relating to material online. Subsection 512(c) of the copyright law provides limitations on service provider liability with respect to information residing, at direction of a user, on a system or network that the service provider controls or operates, if the service provider has designated an agent for notification of claimed infringement by providing contact information to the Copyright Office and through the service provider's publicly accessible website. 17 U.S.C. 512(c).

The APA has designated an agent to receive notification of alleged copyright infringement occurring on any domain owned by the APA. Proper notification must include the following elements:

- A physical or electronic signature of a person authorized to act on behalf of the owner of an exclusive right that is allegedly infringed.
- Identification of the copyrighted work claimed to have been infringed, or, if multiple copyrighted works at a single online site are covered by a single notification, a representative list of such works at that site.
- Identification of the material that is claimed to be infringing or to be the subject of infringing activity and that is to be removed or access to which is to be disabled, and information, reasonably sufficient to permit the APA to locate the material.
- Information reasonably sufficient to permit the APA to contact you, such as an address, telephone number, and, if available, an electronic mail address at which you may be contacted.
- A statement that you have a good faith belief that use of the material in the manner complained of is not authorized by the copyright owner, its agent, or the law.
- A statement that the information in the notification is accurate, and under penalty of perjury, that you are authorized to act on behalf of the owner of an exclusive right that is allegedly infringed.

If you believe that your copyrighted work is being infringed, notify our designated department as specified below.

American Psychiatric Association
Office of Communications and Public Affairs
1000 Wilson Blvd., Suite 1825
Arlington, VA 22209
Ph: 703-907-8640
Fax: 703-907-1082
e-mail: press@psych.org