Abstract

After 38 years of biennial updates, the authors take great pride in being able to publish the twentieth version of the “Brandon/Hill Selected List of Print Books and Journals for the Small Medical Library.” The 2003 Small Medical Library list is the first Brandon/Hill publication to make the transition from print to being published exclusively on the internet. This list of 672 books and 141 journals is intended as a selection guide for health sciences libraries or similar facilities. It can also function as a core collection for a library consortium. Books and journals are categorized by subject; the book list is followed by an author/editor index, and the subject list of journals by an alphabetical title listing. Due to continuing requests from librarians, a “minimal core list” consisting of 104 titles has been pulled out from the 251 asterisked () initial-purchase books and marked with daggers (†) before the asterisks. To purchase the entire collection of 672 and to pay for 141 2003 print journal subscriptions would require $144,486. The cost of only the asterisked items, books and journals, totals $63,873. The “minimal core list” book collection costs approximately $18,236.

Alfred N. Brandon began the “selected book and journal list” idea in 1965. Its original purpose was to assist hospital librarians with acquiring quality medical literature (1). Today, thirty-eight years later, we are presenting the twentieth revised version of the “Brandon/Hill Selected List of Print Books and Journals for the Small Medical Library.” The first list (1965) contained 358 books and 123 journals; the 2003 version has 672 books and 141 journals. For more information about the history and purpose of the “list,” readers might be interested in reviewing past publications, for which bibliographic data is available below.*

The 2003 Small Medical Library list is the first Brandon/Hill publication to make the transition from print to being published exclusively on the Internet. Our goal is to create a Brandon/Hill Web site that offers the same quality as the print versions, while providing librarians and other interested users with easier access and use of the lists.

The authors have considered input – pro and con – from health science librarians, editors, clinicians, subject specialists, and vendors. However, the final choice of publications is ours – based on our opinion. From the beginning, the Brandon/Hill selected lists have always been based on the opinion of the compilers. There is no model or scientific method employed. Journal title selections remain relatively stable.

Approximately $144,486 would be needed to purchase all of the 672 books and 141 journals (2003 subscriptions) on this list-- $88,833 for books and $55,653 for 2003 subscriptions. Items suggested for first purchase, 251 books and 59 journals are designated with asterisks (*), because health sciences librarians usually cannot afford or may not need all of or most of the listed publications. The cost of the asterisked items is approximately $63,873, $38,616 for the books and $25,257 for 2003 journal subscriptions.

In response to numerous requests from health sciences librarians, we have chosen from the book list, those titles which could be considered for a "minimal core list." These 104 titles that have been marked with daggers (†) before the asterisks; the total amount for these books is approximately $18,236. The minimal core list consists of books for librarians who can only choose a few titles from each category.

Book price totals are based on the one-volume price in instances when books have been published in either one or the more expensive two-volume sets and on "nonmember prices" when indicated for association publications. If a book is published in both hard cover and paperback, the hard cover price has been used. Journal subscriptions are quoted at the print institutional rate.

The dramatic increases in book and journal prices for titles in this list and its previous versions are shown in Table 1. From 1965 to 2003 there has been an increase of 781% ($15.00 to $132.19) in the average price per book title. During the same thirty-eight year period, the average subscription has increased 2,720% ($13.90 to $391.92).

The figures stated here apply only to publications that appear in this list or have appeared over the years in its predecessors. The "per-title" calculation includes the cost of all volumes in a multivolume set. In instances where a title appears in either one or two volumes, it has been considered as one volume in the physical volume count. Titles do vary from list to list, but the cost figures are representative of those being incurred by health sciences libraries in acquiring current print health sciences literature.

The majority of the publications are clinical in content, although we have included clinically relevant basic science books. We have omitted basic sciences journals because most health sciences libraries cannot justify the extremely high subscription costs for low-use material; the Web, fax machine, or document delivery service can make the contents of these journals readily accessible. If basic science journals are required, they should be purchased on a resource-sharing basis with other libraries. The journal list is not intended to support research activities. We have attempted to assemble a well-balanced current collection of authoritative English-language books and journals, primarily in the clinical sciences. Most, but not all, of the publications originated in the United States. When two books appear to be of comparable content and authorship, we have purposely chosen the most recent one.

In the 2003 book list, 81% of the titles have been published in 2000 or later; 328 books cost $100.00 each or more. Because current books have been emphasized, some standard works that have not been revised for several years have been dropped from this list. We are aware that "newer" is not necessarily "better," but current books have been given priority. We have not been able to review every English-language biomedical book and journal published during the past two years. Therefore, exclusion of a publication from this list in no way implies that it is not high quality. We simply may not have seen the item in question. If at all possible, we have tried to include less expensive alternatives along with the expensive books, but in many subject areas inexpensive titles of high quality no longer exist. However, we have included 150 books that have list prices of $50.00 or less. Price information has been supplied by publishers and vendors and is as accurate as we could obtain at the time of publication. Price increases are to be expected.

This list is, as the title implies, limited to print media -- books and journals. Health sciences librarians who need to purchase audiovisuals or microcomputer software but lack knowledge of such media should request assistance from other librarians who have initiated a successful media program or from an academic media centers. We have not perused the electronic books and journals available on the Web or CD-ROM, and we do not intend to do so at this time.

Book titles in this list are divided into fifty-nine subject categories and the journals into forty-six. No new subject categories have been added during the interim two-year period.

If a book has more than two authors or editors, the notation "[and others]" is made after the name of the senior author or editor. In the index of authors and editors, we have included only the senior persons; coauthors and coeditors do not appear.

Because of mergers, takeovers, and the changing of publishers' names, the imprint on a book may not necessarily be indicative of the publisher who is presently distributing the book. We have tried to cite the books by using the names of the publishers who are currently distributing them. It is difficult to keep track of who is publishing what. As a matter of course, we routinely indicate the publisher from whom a book can be obtained in the United States if it is not of U.S. origin. The book list shows the current publisher that owns the title. Persons needing information related to nursing and/or allied health should consult the other two Brandon/Hill Lists that deal specifically with nursing or allied health; they were published in 2002 and 2003, respectively (2,3).

After thirty-eight years, we are pleased to publish the twentieth version of the "Brandon/Hill Selected List of Print Books and Journals for the Small Medical Library." We have attempted to provide a useful,
