The MAC Hall of Fame

The Mid-American Conference Hall-of-Fame was approved by the MAC Council of Presidents at their meeting on December 2, 1987. The charter class was inducted into the MAC Hall of Fame in 1988 and subsequent classes were added in 1989, 1990, 1991, 1992 and 1994.

The MAC is the only Division I conference to have a Hall of Fame. Each of the schools nominates a list of individuals to be considered for induction. The nominated individuals must have participated during the time the university was in the MAC and five years must have passed from the time the individual participated in athletics or worked in the athletic department at his/her university or upon retirement from the university. The individual does not have to be a MAC graduate but must have just worked or attended a MAC University.

A special category will be developed for those individuals who have made a contribution to the MAC, but were not affiliated with any one university (past commissioners, officials, supervisors of officials, etc.). Any university or selection committee member may nominate a person for this category.

With a seven-person selection committee, the nominee must receive at least five affirmative votes to be selected for induction. The selection committee consists of former MAC administrators in addition to long-standing members of the media.

In considering an individual's qualifications, the committee will consider contributions that the individual made during his/her time at the university as well as the positive publicity he/she has brought to the university since leaving.

Marshall's Randy Moss won the Vern Smith Award and was Offensive Player of the Year in 1997 for his 25 touchdowns and 1,647 receiving yards. Moss also captured the Biletnikoff Award as the nation's best receiver.

The Vern Smith Leadership Award

Each year since 1987, the Mid-American Conference's top football player has been presented with the Vern Smith Leadership Award. The award, initiated by the Downtown Athletic Club of Toledo in 1987, re-named after former University of Toledo Athletics Director Vern Smith in 1987, was originally started in 1982 by the Downtown Athletic Club of Toledo as the Jefferson Award.

The winner of the Vern Smith Leadership Award is selected from a pool of one nominee from each school. Each nominee is placed on a ballot to be voted on by the head coaches and two members of the media representing each school.

Akron's Charlie Frye was honored as winner of the Vern Smith Leadership Award in 2004.

The 2004 Vern Smith Leadership Award winner was University of Akron quarterback Charlie Frye, a senior from Willard, Ohio. Frye led the Zips to a school record six MAC wins and had the team playing for the East Division title in the last game of the season on national television against league power Miami. Frye completed 220 of 346 attempts for 2,623 yards and 18 touchdowns as the Zips won six of their last eight games, including five in a row at one point, the best in school history since going to Division IA.

Frye's spectacular season was highlighted with two outstanding performances. On Nov.

Ray Bentley, shown here as a member of the Buffalo Bills, won the first-ever Vern Smith Award (then the Jefferson Award) in 1982.

5 he led the Zips back from a fourth-quarter 14-point deficit against Marshall for a 31-28 win as time expired. In January, Frye joined former Vern Smith winner Chad Pennington as MVP selection of the Senior Bowl. Frye completed 10 of 12 passes for 138 yards and a touchdown in leading the North to a 23-13 win.

Frye became the first Zip ever to win the Vern Smith Award, emblematic of the best player in the league.

Chad Pennington, the 1999 Vern Smith Award winner, quarterbacked Marshall to a perfect season (13-0) that year and now directs the offense for the New York Jets.

Vern Smith served as director of athletics at Toledo from 1971-86, and also as an assistant football coach and administrator from 1963-69. Smith earned degrees from Bowling Green (bachelor's) and Toledo (master's).

MAC Championship Football Game History

The Mid-American Conference will hold its ninth football championship game at the site of Ford Field in downtown Detroit – a premiere sports venue that is slated to host a Super Bowl (2006) and Final Four (2009). The MAC has long been associated with the Detroit area and played in the first ever college football game at Ford Field as Toledo faced Boston College in the 2003 Motor City Bowl. This year's event will be played Thursday, December 1 at 7:30 p.m. (ET) and marks the second year of a neutral site championship game for the MAC.

From 1997-2000, the game was staged at Marshall Stadium in Huntington, WV. Beginning with the 2001 game, the site alternated between the West Division and East Division champion. From Randy Moss' prelude to tearing up the NFL with three touchdown receptions in 1997, to Chad Pennington's gutsy battle from a groin injury in 1998 and his last-second heroics in 1999, to Toledo's Chester Taylor setting a title-game record with 188 rushing yards in a historic comeback win in 2001, and Ben Roethlisberger's dominating performance in 2003, the MAC championship game has offered heroes on both winning and losing teams. Beginning in 2004 the MAC Championship game was moved to a neutral site at Ford Field in Detroit.

By the time 2005 is over, hundreds of plays will have been run, and many more hearts broken, as one team's dream of reaching the pinnacle of college football comes true – that of Mid-American Conference Champion and a berth in either the Motor City Bowl in Detroit, MI or the GMAC Bowl in Mobile, AL.

1997 Game Recap - Marshall 34, Toledo 14 (ESPN)

Buoyed by three Chad Pennington to Randy Moss touchdown passes, Marshall University fought off a challenge from West Division champion Toledo to win the inaugural Mid-American Conference football championship game. Billy Malashevich gave the Herd a 3-0, first-quarter lead with a 22-yard field goal. Toledo took its first lead at 7-3 when Ray Curry hauled in a 56-yard pass from Chris Wallace. That lead stood until the 6:46 mark of the third quarter when Moss grabbed a four-yard TD pass from Pennington. Three minutes later Moss showed his speed with an 86-yard score via a Pennington pass. Malashevich knocked down a 25-yard field goal in the fourth quarter before the Pennington-Moss connection encoered with a 20-yard hookup. Doug Chapman added a five-yard run to boost Marshall to a 34-7 advantage. A Wallace to Mel Long touchdown pass from 33 yards closed out the scoring. Pennington completed 20-of-34 passes for 322 yards and three touchdowns while Chapman added 117 rushing yards. Wallace completed 12-of-28 passes for 246 yards and two touchdowns while Dwayne Harris contributed 105 rushing yards for the Rockets.

Marshall won its fourth consecutive MAC championship by scoring the game-winning points with just over six minutes left in the fourth quarter. Both teams featured first-year starters at quarterback. The Herd's Byron Leftwich led his team to a 13-0 halftime lead, largely on a 44-yard scoring pass to Darius Watts with 97 seconds left in the second quarter. J.R. On its next possession, WMU took its only lead at 14-13 on Welsh's 41-yard TD strike to Josh Bush and Brad Selent's PAT. Leftwich's 29-yard TD pass to John Cooper with 6:14 on the clock re-claimed the lead for Marshall. The Broncos chances for victory were thwarted when their next drive stalled at the Marshall 37-yard line with 3:36 on the clock and their last grasp was ended with 1:21 on the clock when Danny Derricott intercepted a Welsh pass attempt.
