Biography

On Australia Day 2005, at just 18 years of age, Josh became a C6 – C7 Quadriplegic. He was travelling to the coastal town of Port Campbell coastal town with a friend, when the car lost control and rolled down an 20 foot embankment. The roof collapsed on Josh dislocating a vertebrae in his neck.

Following the accident Josh finished year 12 and is now completing a course at University. In his spare time he trains as a member of the Victorian wheelchair rugby team and has also been selected on the Australian training Squad.

Josh hopes to maintain this spot and represent Australia at the London 2012 Paralympics.
