University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS) College of Medicine Program

Little Rock, AR

Overview Program & Work Schedule Features & Benefits Add to Dashboard

In addition to providing comprehensive clinical training, our residency aims to train leaders in EM. Key to this is our shared ownership philosophy in which all residents are integral to our ongoing success. This allows residents to be fully involved in all aspects of residency leadership, gaining experience in education, clinical operations and administration. Many residents are active at the national level, gaining additional leadership experiences that prepare them to excel beyond residency.

AMA Member Events

Events are opportunities to network with peers and learn more about advocacy, policy making, residency, and organized medicine.

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic and the demands on our health care system, some events and meetings that have been planned may be suspended or held virtually. The AMA Board of Trustees continues to monitor the evolving situation, and we will update event pages on the AMA website accordingly.

Andrew Louis DeMatteo

Future Physician

AMA MEMBER SINCE 2018

Meet Andrew Louis DiMatteo, a third-year medical student at Drexel University College of Medicine in Philadelphia. Andrew learned the impact a great physician can make on patients’ lives by being a patient himself. This was the inspiration that sparked his pursuit of a life in medicine.

In just a few short years in school, Andrew has made his mark by participating in the U.S. Army’s Health Professions Scholarship Program and contributing to the clinics that Drexel University runs in the Philadelphia area. Though he is proud of these personal achievements, he sees them more as opportunities to do something bigger than himself and more than what is asked of a citizen. From this, Andrew has already learned things about medicine he will take into his career.

“Medicine is not just a simple career,” he says, “It is a lifestyle—one that is full of ups and downs, sacrifice, and it will push you to be your best self in order to care for others.”
