What is the Intellectual Disability Certificate (ryōiku techō)?

It is a certificate issued by Shimane Prefecture to make using welfare services easier for people with intellectual disabilities.

Who is it for? (Criteria for receiving the Intellectual Disability Certificate)

- ① Intellectual disability developed before the age of 18.
- ② IQ is found to be roughly 70 or lower in a designated test.
- ③ The disability can be confirmed to affect the ability to participate in society.
For one reason or another, intellectual development is delayed in childhood, and...

- daily life is rather difficult as a result.
 - social welfare is necessary.
 - an intellectual disability, such as a developmental disorder, has been diagnosed.
- ※The certificate cannot be issued if, in a developmental disorder examination, mental illness(es) is/are discovered with no additional intellectual disorders.
