NOTE OF THE PUBLISHER: The Law on Amendments and Additions to the Criminal Code (Službeni glasnik RS, No. 35/19) shall come into force on 1 December 2019 (see Article 42 of the Law - 35/2019-3).

GENERAL PART

CHAPTER ONE

GENERAL PROVISIONS

No Criminal Offence or Punishment without Law

Article 1

No one may be punished or other criminal sanction imposed for an offence that did not constitute a criminal offence at the time it was committed, nor may punishment or other criminal sanction be imposed that was not applicable at the time the criminal offence was committed.

No Punishment without Guilt

Article 2

Punishment and caution may be imposed only on an offender who is guilty of the committed criminal offence.

Basis and Scope of Criminal Law Compulsion

Article 3

Protection of a human being and other fundamental social values constitute the basis and scope for defining of criminal acts, imposing of criminal sanctions and their enforcement to a degree necessary for suppression of these offences.

* Published in the Službeni glasnik RS, Nos. 85/05 of 6 October 2005, 88/05 of 14 October 2005 (Corrigendum), 107/05 of 2 December 2005 (Corrigendum), 72/09 of 3 September 2009, 111/09 of 29 December 2009, 121/12 of 24 December 2012, 104/13 of 27 November 2013, 108/14 of 10 October 2014, 94/16 of 24 November 2016 and 35/19 of 21 May 2019. The latest changes are given in italic.

Criminal Sanctions and their General Purpose

Article 4

(1) Criminal sanctions are punishment, caution, security measures and rehabilitation measures.

(2) The general purpose of prescription and imposing of criminal sanctions is to suppress acts that violate or endanger the values protected by criminal legislation.

(3) A criminal sanction may not be imposed on a person who has not turned fourteen at the time of the commission of an offence. Rehabilitation measures and other criminal sanctions may be imposed on a juvenile under the conditions prescribed by a special law.

CHAPTER TWO

APPLICATION OF CRIMINAL LEGISLATION OF THE REPUBLIC OF SERBIA

Temporal Application

Article 5

(1) The law in force at the time of committing of criminal offence shall apply to the offender.

(2) If after the commission of a criminal offence, the law was amended once or more times, the law most lenient for the offender shall apply.

(3) A person who commits an offence prescribed by a law with a definite period of application shall be tried under such law, regardless of the time of trial, unless otherwise provided by such law.

Applicability of Criminal Legislation on the Territory of Serbia

Article 6

(1) Criminal legislation of the Republic of Serbia shall apply to anyone committing a criminal offence on its territory.

(2) Criminal legislation of the Republic of Serbia shall apply to anyone committing a criminal offence on a domestic vessel, regardless of where the vessel is at the time of committing of the act.

(3) Criminal legislation of the Republic of Serbia shall apply to anyone committing a criminal offence in a domestic aircraft while in flight or domestic military aircraft, regardless of where the aircraft is at the time of committing of criminal offence.

(4) If criminal proceedings have been instituted or concluded in a foreign country in respect of cases specified in paragraphs 1 through 3 of this Article, criminal prosecution in Serbia shall be undertaken only with the permission of the Republic Public Prosecutor.

(5) Criminal prosecution of foreign citizens in cases specified in paragraphs 1 through 3 of this Article may be transferred to a foreign state, under the terms of reciprocity.

Applicability of Criminal Legislation of Serbia to Perpetrators of Particular Criminal Offences Committed Abroad

Article 7

Criminal legislation of the Republic of Serbia shall apply to anyone who commits abroad a criminal offence specified in Articles 305 through 316, Articles 318 through 321, criminal offence specified in Articles 391 through 393a hereof, if committed in relation to the Republic of Serbia or its national, as well as the criminal offence specified in Article 241 hereof if the counterfeiting relates to the domestic currency.

Applicability of Criminal Legislation of Serbia to Serbian Citizen Committing Criminal Offence Abroad

Article 8

(1) Criminal legislation of Serbia shall also apply to a citizen of Serbia who commits a criminal offence abroad other than those specified in Article 7 hereof, if found on the territory of Serbia or extradited to the Republic of Serbia.

(2) Under the conditions specified in paragraph 1 of this Article, criminal legislation of Serbia shall also apply to an offender who became a citizen of Serbia after the commission of the offence.

Applicability of Criminal Legislation of Serbia to a Foreign Citizen Committing a Criminal Offence Abroad

Article 9

(1) Criminal legislation of Serbia shall also apply to a foreigner who commits a criminal offence against Serbia or its citizen outside the territory of Serbia other than those defined in Article 7 hereof, if they are found on the territory of Serbia or returned to the Republic of Serbia.

(2) Criminal legislation of Serbia shall also apply to a foreigner who commits a criminal offence abroad against a foreign state or foreign citizen, when such offence is punishable by five years' imprisonment or a heavier penalty, pursuant to laws of the country of commission, if such person is found on the territory of Serbia and is not returned to the foreign state. Unless otherwise provided by this Code, the court may not impose in such cases a penalty heavier than set out by the law of the country where the criminal offence was committed.

Special Requirements for Criminal Prosecution for Offences Committed Abroad

Article 10

(1) In cases referred to in Articles 8 and 9 hereof, criminal prosecution shall not be undertaken if:

- 1) The offender has fully served the sentence to which he was convicted abroad;
- 2) The offender was acquitted abroad by final judgement or the statute of limitation has set in respect of the punishment, or was pardoned;
- 3) To an offender of unsound mind a relevant security measure was enforced abroad;
- 4) For a criminal offence under foreign law criminal prosecution requires a motion of the victim, and such motion was not filed.

(2) In cases referred to in Articles 8 and 9 paragraph 1 hereof criminal prosecution shall be undertaken only when criminal offences are also punishable by the law of the country where committed, unless permitted by the Republic Public Prosecutor or when so envisaged by a ratified international agreement.

(3) In case referred to in Article 9 paragraph 2 hereof, if the act at time of commission was considered a criminal offence under general legal principles of international law, prosecution may be undertaken in Serbia following the permission of the Republic Public Prosecutor, regardless of the law of the country where the offence was committed.

Calculating Detention and Time Served Abroad

Article 11

Detention, any other depriving of liberty in respect of a criminal offence, depriving of liberty during extradition procedure, as well as the punishment that the offender has served abroad pursuant to the judgement of a foreign court shall be calculated in the punishment imposed by a domestic court for the same criminal offence, and if the punishment is not of the same kind, calculation shall be done according to the assessment of the court.

Criminal Liability of Legal Entities for Criminal Offences

Article 12

Criminal liability of legal entities for criminal offences, as well as punishment for legal entities shall be determined by the special law.

Applicability of the General Part of this Code

Article 13

Provisions of the General Part of this Code shall apply to all criminal offences provided under this Code or other law.

CHAPTER THREE

CRIMINAL OFFENCE

1. General Provisions on Criminal Offence

Criminal Offence

Article 14

(1) A criminal offence is an offence set forth by the law as criminal offence, which is unlawful and committed with guilty mind/mens rea.

(2) There is no criminal offence without an unlawful act or culpability, notwithstanding the existence of all essential elements of a criminal offence stipulated by law.

Commission of Criminal Offence by Omission

Article 15

(1) A criminal offence is committed by omission if the law defines a failure to undertake a particular action as a criminal offence.

(2) A criminal offence may also be committed by omission even if the law defines the offence as commission, if elements of such criminal offence have materialised by the offender's failure to do what he was obliged to do.

Time of Commission of Criminal Offence

Article 16

(1) A criminal offence is committed at the time the offender was acting or was obliged to act, irrespective of when the consequences of that act occurred.

(2) An accomplice has committed a criminal offence at the time when he acted or was obliged to act.

Place of Commission of Criminal Offence

Article 17

(1) A criminal offence is committed both at the place where the perpetrator acted or was obliged to act, and where full or partial consequences of the act occurred.

(2) An attempted criminal offence shall be considered committed both at the place where the offender acted and at the place where consequences of his intent should or could have occurred.

(3) An accomplice has committed an offence also in the place where he acted in complicity.

An Offence of Minor Significance

Article 18

(1) An offence shall not be considered a criminal offence, if despite having elements of a criminal offence it represents an offence of minor significance.

(2) An offence of minor significance is that in which the degree of the offender's responsibility is not high, if consequences are absent or insignificant or eliminated by the offender, and where the general purpose of imposing criminal sanctions does not require sanctioning.

(3) The provisions of paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article may be applied to criminal offences carrying imprisonment sentence of up to three years or a fine.

Self-defence

Article 19

(1) An act committed in self-defence is not a criminal offence.

(2) Self-defence is such defence as necessary for the perpetrator to repel a concurrent unlawful attack on his person or the person of another.

(3) Punishment of a perpetrator who has exceeded the limits of self-defence may be mitigated. A perpetrator who exceeds the limit of self-defence due to extreme provocation or fear caused by assault may be acquitted.

Extreme Necessity

Article 20

(1) An act committed in extreme necessity shall not constitute a criminal offence.

(2) Extreme necessity exists when an act is committed by the perpetrator to repel from his person or the person of another a concurrent unprovoked danger that could not be otherwise repelled, and the damage inflicted does not exceed the damage threatened.

(3) Punishment of a perpetrator, who caused the danger himself, but due to negligence or has exceeded the limits of extreme necessity, may be mitigated. A perpetrator, who has exceeded the limits of extreme necessity under particularly extenuating circumstances, may receive remittance of punishment.

(4) There is no extreme necessity if the offender was under obligation to expose himself to imminent danger.

Force and Threat

Article 21

(1) An act committed under irresistible force is not a criminal offence.

(2) If a criminal offence is committed under force which is not irresistible or under threat, the offender may be punished more leniently.

(3) In case referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article, the person using irresistible force shall be considered perpetrator of the criminal offence.

Guilt

Article 22

(1) A perpetrator is guilty if he/she was mentally competent and acting with premeditation at the time of committing of the criminal offence, and was aware or should or could have been aware that his action was prohibited.

(2) A perpetrator is also guilty when acting in negligence, if so explicitly provided by law.

Mental Incompetence

Article 23

(1) There is no criminal offence if it was committed in a state of mental incompetence.

(2) A perpetrator is mentally incompetent if they were unable to understand the significance of their act or were unable to control their actions due to mental illness, temporary mental disorder, mental retardation or other severe mental disorder.

(3) A perpetrator of a criminal offence whose ability to understand the significance of their act or ability to control their actions was substantially diminished due to any of the conditions stipulated in paragraph 2 of this Article (substantially diminished mental competence) may be given a mitigated sentence.

Self-induced Incompetence

Article 24

(1) The guilt of the perpetrator of a criminal offence who by consumption of alcohol, drugs or otherwise induced such a state of mind where they could not understand the significance of their act or control their actions shall be determined according to the time directly preceding the induced state.

(2) A perpetrator who under the circumstances referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article committed a criminal offence in the state of substantially reduced competence may not receive mitigated punishment on these grounds.

Premeditation

Article 25

A criminal offence is premeditated if the perpetrator was aware of his act and wanted it committed or when the perpetrator was aware that he could commit the act and consented to its commission.

Negligence

Article 26

A criminal offence is committed by negligence if the offender was aware that by his action he could commit an offence, but had recklessly assumed that it would not occur or that he would be able to prevent it or was unaware that by his action he could commit an offence although due to circumstances under which it was committed and his personal characteristics he was obliged to be and could have been aware of such possibility.

Liability for Graver Consequence

Article 27

When a graver consequence has resulted from a criminal offence due to which a more severe punishment is provided by law, such punishment may be imposed if the consequence is attributable to the offender's negligence, as well as if he acted with premeditation if this does not establish elements of another criminal offence.

Mistake of Fact

Article 28

(1) An act shall not be considered a criminal offence if it was done out of a compelling mistake of fact.

(2) A compelling mistake of law exists where the perpetrator was not required or could not avoid a mistake about particular circumstance, which is a statutory element of the criminal offence, or about particular circumstance, which, had it existed, would have rendered such act permissible.

(3) If the perpetrator's mistake was due to negligence, he shall be guilty of criminal offence committed by negligence, if such offence is provided by law.

Mistake of Law

Article 29

(1) An act shall not be considered a criminal offence if it was done out of a compelling mistake of law.

(2) A compelling mistake of law exists where the perpetrator was not required or could not be aware that his act was prohibited.

(3) A perpetrator who was unaware that an act was prohibited, but should and could have known, may be punished leniently.

2. Attempted Criminal Offence

Attempt

Article 30

(1) Whoever commences a criminal offence with premeditation, but does not complete it, shall be punished for the attempted criminal offence if such offence is punishable by law with a term of imprisonment of five years or more, and for the attempt of other criminal offence only when the law explicitly provides for the punishment of attempt.

(2) A perpetrator shall be punished for an attempt with a punishment prescribed for the criminal offence or with a lighter punishment.

Inappropriate Attempt

Article 31

An offender who attempts to commit a criminal offence with an inappropriate tool or against an inappropriate object may be remitted from punishment.

Voluntary Abandonment

Article 32

(1) An offender who attempted to commit a criminal offence, but voluntarily abandoned the act of commission or prevented occurrence of consequences, may be remitted from punishment.

(2) The provision of paragraph 1 of this Article shall not apply if the offender has not completed the criminal offence due to circumstances preventing or considerably hindering commission of the criminal offence, or because he assumed that such circumstances were present.

(3) An accessory, instigator or abettor who voluntarily prevents commission of a criminal offence may also be remitted from punishment.

(4) If in cases specified in paragraphs 1 and 3, the offender completes some other criminal offence that is independent of the offence he abandoned, the offender may not be remitted from punishment for such other offence on the same grounds.

3. Complicity in Criminal Offence

Co-perpetration

Article 33

If several persons jointly take part in committing a criminal offence, or jointly commit an offence out of negligence, or by carrying out a jointly made decision, by other premeditated act significantly contribute to committing a criminal offence, each shall be punished as prescribed by law for such offence.

Incitement

Article 34

(1) Whoever with intent incites another to commit a criminal offence shall be punished as prescribed by law for such offence.

(2) Whoever with intent incites another to commit a criminal offence whose attempt is punishable by law, and such offence has not been attempted at all, shall be punished as for the attempted criminal offence.

Aiding and Abetting

Article 35

(1) Anyone aiding another with intent in committing a criminal offence shall be punished as prescribed by law for such criminal offence, or by a mitigated penalty.

(2) The following, in particular, shall be considered as aiding in the commission of a criminal offence: giving instructions or advice on how to commit a criminal offence; supply of means for committing a criminal offence; creating conditions or removal of obstacles for committing a criminal offence; prior promise to conceal the commission of the offence, offender, means used in committing a criminal offence, traces of criminal offence and items gained through the commission of criminal offence.

Limits of Culpability and Punishment of Accomplices

Article 36

(1) An accomplice is culpable for a criminal offence within the limits of his intent or negligence, and the inciter and abettor within the limits of their intent.

(2) Grounds which preclude the culpability of the perpetrator (Art. 23, 28 and 29 hereof) do not preclude a criminal offence of co-perpetrators, inciters or abettors if they are culpable.

(3) Personal relations, characteristics and circumstances due to which the law allows remittance of punishment, or that affect sentencing, may be taken in consideration only for such perpetrator, co-perpetrator, inciter or abettor where such relations, characteristics and circumstances exist.

(4) Personal relations, characteristics and circumstances representing an essential element of a criminal offence do not have to exist with an inciter or abettor. An inciter or abettor having no such personal characteristic may be given a mitigated penalty.

4. Punishment of Inciter and Abettor for an Attempt

Attempt and Lesser Criminal Offence

Article 37

(1) If a criminal offence remains an attempt, the inciter and abettor shall be punished for the attempt.

(2) If an offender commits a lesser criminal offence than the one incited to or abetted, and which would have been comprised in such offence, the inciter and abettor shall be punished for the committed criminal offence.

(3) Provision of paragraph 2 of this Article shall not apply if the inciter would receive more severe penalty by application of Article 34, paragraph 2 hereof.

5. Special Provisions on Criminal Liability for Offences Committed through the Media

Culpability of an Editor-in-chief

Article 38

(1) A perpetrator of a criminal offence committed through publication of information in newspapers, other periodicals, on the radio, television or newsreels is the author of the information.

(2) As an exception to paragraph 1 of this Article, an editor-in-chief or person replacing him at the time of publication of the information shall be deemed perpetrator of a criminal offence committed through publication of information in newspapers, other periodicals, on the radio, television or newsreels:

- 1) If the author remains unknown until the conclusion of the main hearing before a first instance court and the offence carries a statutory penalty of five years imprisonment or more;
- 2) If the information was published without the author's consent;
- 3) if at the time of publication factual or legal obstacles existed for prosecution of the author, and continue to exist.

(3) An editor-in-chief or person replacing him is not culpable if due to justifiable reasons he was unaware of any of the circumstances referred to in paragraph 2, items 1 through 3 of this Article.

Criminal Liability of Publisher, Printer and Producer

Article 39

(1) If conditions set forth in Article 38 hereof exist, the perpetrators shall be:

- 1) Publisher – for a criminal offence committed through regular printed publications, and if there is no publisher or factual or legal obstacles exist for his prosecution – the type-setter/printer who had knowledge thereof;
- 2) Producer – for the criminal offence committed by way of compact disc, phonograph record, magnetic tape and other audio mediums, film for public and private showing, slides, video or other similar means intended for a wider audience.

(2) If the publisher, printer or producer is a legal entity or government authority, the official in charge of publishing, printing or production shall be culpable.

Application of Provisions of Articles 38 and 39

Article 40

Provisions of Articles 38 and 39 hereof shall apply only provided these persons may not be considered perpetrators of a criminal offence pursuant to general provisions of this Code.

Protection of Sources of Information

Article 41

Persons referred to in Articles 38 and 39 hereof shall not be considered perpetrators of a criminal offence if they failed to disclose to the court or a competent body the author of the information or source of information, unless a criminal offence has been committed which is punishable by at least five years imprisonment or more, or if necessary in order to prevent such criminal offence.

CHAPTER FOUR

PENALTIES

1. Purpose of Punishment, Types of Punishment and Requirements for Imposition thereof

Purpose of Punishment

Article 42

Within the framework of the general purpose of criminal sanctions (Article 4, paragraph 2), the purpose of punishment is:

- 1) To prevent an offender from committing criminal offences and deter them from future commission of criminal offences;
- 2) To deter others from commission of criminal offences;
- 3) To express social condemnation of the criminal offence, enhance moral strength and reinforce the obligation to respect the law;*
- 4) *achieving justice and proportionality among the committed offence and the severity of the criminal sanction.

Types of Punishment

Article 43*

*The following sanctions may be pronounced to a perpetrator of criminal offence: **

- 1) Life sentence; *
- 2) Imprisonment; *
- 3) Fine; *
- 4) Community service; *
- 5) Revocation of driver's license. *

Principal and Secondary Penalties

Article 44

*(1) Life sentence and imprisonment may be pronounced only as principal sanctions.

* Published in the Službeni glasnik RS, No. 35/19 of 21 May 2019.

(2) A fine, community service and revocation of driver's license may be pronounced as principal and as secondary sanctions.

(3) If several sanctions are prescribed for a single criminal offence, only one may be pronounced as principal sanction.

*Life Sentence

*Article 44a

(1) *In exceptional cases, life sentence may be pronounced along with imprisonment, for the most severe criminal offences and the most severe forms of severe criminal offences.

(2) *A life sentence cannot be pronounced to a person who, at the time of commission of a criminal offence is less than twenty-one years of age.

(3) *A life sentence cannot be pronounced in cases when the law sets forth that a penalty can be mitigated (Article 56, paragraph 1, item 1) or when there is basis for acquittal.

Imprisonment

Article 45

(1) A sentence of imprisonment may not be less than thirty days or more than twenty years.

(2) A sentence of imprisonment referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article is pronounced in full years and months, and if less than six months then also in days.

*(Deleted).

*(Deleted).

(3)* The court may to convicted person punished with imprisonment up to one year, impose to serve the sentence in terms that shall not leave premises where he lives, if, given the personality of the convicted person, his previous life, his conduct after the offence was committed, the degree of guilt and other circumstances under which the offence was committed it can be expected that the purpose of punishment may also be effected in this manner.

(4)* A convicted person who serves the prison sentence under the terms specified in paragraph 3* of this Article must not leave the premises where he lives, except in cases prescribed in the statute governing the execution of criminal sanctions. If the convicted person leaves the premises where he lives once for the duration of over six hours or twice in the duration of up to six hours arbitrarily, the court shall determine that he shall serve the rest of the imprisonment sentence in a prison.

(Deleted).

(5)* A convicted person for criminal offence against the marriage and family, who lives with the victim in the same household, the enforcement of the prison sentence specified in paragraph 3* of this Article, shall not be determined.

* Published in the Službeni glasnik RS, No. 35/19 of 21 May 2019.

Release on Parole

Article 46

(1) The court shall release on parole a convicted person who has served two thirds of the prison sentence if in the course of serving the prison sentence he has improved so that it is reasonable to assume that he will behave well while at liberty and particularly that he will refrain from committing a new criminal offence until the end of the imposed prison sentence. In deliberating whether to release the convicted person on parole, consideration shall be given to his conduct during serving of the sentence, performance of work tasks relative to his work abilities, and other circumstances indicating that the convicted person will not commit a new criminal offence during release on parole. A convicted person who was given two sanctions for serious disciplinary offences or whose awarded benefits that have been withdrawn shall not be released on parole.

(2) Provided that requirements referred to in paragraph 1 hereof are met, the court may release on parole a convicted person:

- *convicted to life sentence, but who has served twenty-seven years;

- convicted for criminal offences against humanity and other right protected by international law (Articles 370 through 393a), sexual criminal offences (Articles 178 through 185b), criminal offence of offences domestic violence (Article 194, paragraph 2 to 4), criminal offence of unlawful production and circulation of narcotics (Article 246 paragraph 5)*, criminal offences against the constitutional order and security of the Republic of Serbia (Article 305 through 321), criminal offence of taking bribe (Article 367) and criminal offence of giving bribe (Article 368);

- *convicted by special departments of competent courts, in proceedings administered in line with the competence defined by the law, governing the organization and competence of state authorities in combating organized crime, corruption and terrorism;

- finally convicted more than three times to an imprisonment but none of the convictions were deleted or the requirements for the deletion were not met.

(3) The Court may in decision on parole determine that the convicted person must fulfil any of the obligations specified in Article 73 hereof, as well as any other obligation stipulated in the criminal provisions.

(4) In the case referred to in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article, if parole is not revoked, it shall be considered that the convicted person has served his sentence.

(5) *The court may not release on parole a person convicted for the following criminal offences: aggravated murder (Article 114, paragraph 1, item 9), rape (Article 178, paragraph 4), sexual intercourse with a helpless person (179, paragraph 3), sexual intercourse with a child (Article 180, paragraph 3) and sexual intercourse by abuse of position (Article 181, paragraph 5).

Revocation of Parole

Article 47

(1) The court shall revoke parole if the convicted person, while on parole, commits one or more criminal offences punishable by a term of imprisonment exceeding one year.

(2) The court may revoke parole, if a person on parole commits one or more criminal offences punishable by a term of imprisonment of less than one year or fails to fulfil any obligation that was prescribed by the court in accordance with Article 46, paragraph 3 of this Law. In determining whether to revoke the parole, the court shall particularly take into consideration whether criminal offences are related, motives and other circumstances justifying revocation of parole.

* Published in the Službeni glasnik RS, No. 35/19 of 21 May 2019.

(3) Provisions of paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article shall also apply when the paroled person is tried for a criminal offence committed prior to release on parole.

(4) When the court revokes parole it shall pronounce sentence by applying provisions of Article 60 and 62, paragraph 2 hereof, taking the previously pronounced sentence as already established. The part of the sentence served by the convicted person pursuant to previous conviction shall be calculated into the new sentence, whilst time spent on parole shall not be calculated.

(5) If the paroled person is convicted to a term of imprisonment less than one year, and the court does not revoke parole, parole shall be extended for the period of imprisonment for such sentence served by the convicted persons.

(6) In cases referred to in paragraphs 1 through 3 of this Article, parole may be revoked not later than two years from the day parole has expired.

(7) *The parole shall last for fifteen years from the date when the person convicted to a life sentence was released on parole.

General Provisions on Fines

Article 48

(1) A fine may be determined and pronounced either in daily amounts (Article 49) or a particular amount (Article 50).

(2) A fine for criminal offences committed for gain may be pronounced as secondary punishment even when not stipulated by law or when the law stipulates that the perpetrator may be punished with imprisonment or fine, and the court pronounces imprisonment as the principal punishment.

Fine in Daily Amounts

Article 49

(1) A fine in daily amounts shall be determined by first defining the number of daily amounts and then the sum of the daily amount. The final amount of the fine shall be determined by the court by multiplying the adjudicated number of daily amounts with the value of one daily amount.

(2) The number of daily amounts may not be less than ten nor exceed three hundred and sixty days. The number of daily amounts for the committed criminal offence shall be determined in accordance with the general rules for determining penalties (Article 54).

(3) The sum of one daily amount is determined by dividing the difference between the income and expenditures of the perpetrator during the previous year by the number of days in the year. A single daily amount may not be less than five hundred dinars or more than fifty thousand dinars.

(4) For the purpose of determining the daily amount the court may request information from banks and other financial institutions, government authorities and legal entities who are obliged to deliver the requested information and may not invoke protection of business or other secret.

* Published in the Službeni glasnik RS, No. 35/19 of 21 May 2019.

(5) If it is not possible to obtain verified information on the income and expenses of the perpetrator, or if he does not generate any income, the court shall as a rough estimate determine the daily amount based on the available information.

(6) The number of daily amounts is determined within the following ranges:

- 1) Up to sixty for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment up to three months;
- 2) From thirty to one hundred and twenty for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment up to six months;
- 3) From sixty to one hundred and eighty for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment up to one year;
- 4) From one hundred and twenty to two hundred and forty for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment up to two years;
- 5) At least one hundred and eighty for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment up to three years.
- 6) Within the prescribed amount for criminal offences where a fine is prescribed as the only penalty.

Fine in Particular Amount

Article 50

(1) If it is not possible to determine the amount of a daily amount either based on the rough estimate of the court (Art. 49, paragraph 5), or collecting of such information would significantly prolong the criminal proceedings, the court shall pronounce a fine in set amount within the stipulated range of minimum and maximum fine.

(2) A fine may not be less than ten thousand dinars. A fine may not exceed one million dinars and in case of criminal offences committed for gain more than ten million dinars.

(3) A fine as principal punishment is pronounced in the following amounts:

- 1) Up to one hundred thousand dinars for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment up to three months;
- 2) From twenty thousand to two hundred thousand dinars for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment up to six months;
- 3) From thirty thousand to three hundred thousand dinars for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment up to one year;
- 4) From fifty thousand to five hundred thousand dinars for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment up to two years;
- 5) At least one hundred thousand dinars for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment up to three years.
- 6) Within the prescribed amount for criminal offences where a fine is prescribed as the only penalty.

Enforcement of Fine

Article 51

(1) The time period for payment of a fine is defined in the judgement and may not be less than fifteen days or more than three months. In justifiable cases the court may allow the convicted person to pay the fine in instalments where the period of payment may not exceed one year.

(2) If the convicted person fails to pay the fine within the set period, the court shall replace the fine with a term of imprisonment, by converting each one thousand dinars into one day of imprisonment, provided that the term of imprisonment may not exceed six months, and if the pronounced fine exceeds seven hundred thousand dinars, the term of imprisonment may not exceed one year.

(3) If the convicted person pays only a part of the fine, the court shall convert pro rata the remaining amount of the fine to a term of imprisonment, and if the convicted person pays the remaining amount of the fine, enforcement of the prison sentence shall be discontinued.

(4) An unpaid fine may instead of imprisonment be replaced with a community service order, by converting each one thousand dinars into eight hours of community service, provided the total duration of community service does not exceed three hundred and sixty hours.

(5) After death of the convicted person the fine shall not be enforced.

Community Service

Article 52

(1) Community service may be imposed for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment of up to three years or a fine.

(2) Community service is any socially beneficial work that does not offend human dignity and is not performed for profit.

(3) Community service may not be less than sixty hours or longer than three hundred and sixty hours. Community service shall last sixty hours during one month and shall be performed during a period that may not be less than one month or more than six months.

(4) In pronouncing this penalty the court shall give consideration to the purpose of punishment, have regard to the type of committed criminal offence, personality of the perpetrator and his readiness to perform community service. Community service may not be pronounced without consent of the offender.

(5) If the offender fails to perform a number of all any hours of community service, the court shall replace this penalty by a term of imprisonment by calculating every eight hours of community service as one day of imprisonment.

(6) If the offender fulfils his obligations in respect of community service, the court may reduce the pronounced duration of community service by one quarter.

Revocation of Driver's License

Article 53

(1) The driving license of a perpetrator of an offence in whose commission or preparation a motor vehicle was used, may be revoked.

(2) The court shall determine the duration of the penalty specified in paragraph 1 of this Article, which may not be less than one nor more than three years, calculated from the day the decision became final, and where time spent in prison is not calculated into this sentence.

(3) The penalty specified in paragraph 1 of this Article may be pronounced as secondary punishment together with a term of imprisonment or a fine, and may be imposed as principal punishment for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment of up to two years or fine. Revocation of driving licence may not be ordered together with the safety measure of ban on driving a vehicle.

(4) If the convicted person drives a motor while his driver's license is revoked, the court shall replace the penalty of revocation of driver's license by a term of imprisonment, by calculating every year of revocation of driver's license as one month of imprisonment.

2. Determination of Sentence

General Principles on Sentencing

Article 54

(1) The court shall determine a punishment for a criminal offender within the limits set forth by law for such criminal offence, with regard to the purpose of punishment and taking into account all circumstance that could have bearing on severity of the punishment (extenuating and aggravating circumstances), and particularly the following: degree of culpability, the motives for committing the offence, the degree of endangering or damaging protected goods, the circumstances under which the offence was committed, the past life of the offender, his personal situation, his behaviour after the commission of the criminal offence and particularly his attitude towards the victim of the criminal offence, and other circumstances related to the personality of the offender.

(2) In determining the fine in particular amount (Article 50), the court shall afford particular consideration to financial status of the offender.

(3) The circumstance which is an element of a criminal offence may not be taken into consideration either as aggravating or extenuating, unless it exceeds the degree required for establishing the existence of the criminal offence or particular form of the criminal offence or if there are two or more of such circumstances, and only one is sufficient to define the existence of a severe or less severe form of criminal offence.

Special Circumstance for Determining a Punishment for a Criminal Offence Committed in Hatred

Article 54a

If a criminal offence was committed in hatred, due to race, religion, national or ethnic origin, sex, sexual orientation or gender identity of another person, the court shall consider such circumstance as an aggravating circumstance, unless it is prescribed as an element of the criminal offence.

Repeat Offence

Article 55*

(1) *In case the perpetrator of a criminal offence committed with premeditation, was earlier convicted for a premeditated criminal offence, the court shall consider such circumstance as aggravating, unless five years have passed from the previous conviction or served sentence. **

(2) *In case specified in paragraph 1 of this Article, the court may pronounce a punishment below the limit prescribed by the law or a lighter type of punishment, except when the law states that the punishment can be mitigated or when the law sets forth that the perpetrator may be remitted from punishment, and the court fails to do so. **

* Published in the Službeni glasnik RS, No. 35/19 of 21 May 2019.

*Repeated Offence

*Article 55a

*For a criminal offence committed with premeditation, and for which imprisonment has been defined, the court shall pronounce a punishment above the half of the range of the prescribed punishment, under the following conditions:

*1) in case the perpetrator has been twice convicted for criminal offences committed with premeditation, to imprisonment of at least one year;

*2) if, from the date of release of the perpetrator, from serving the pronounced punishment, until the commission of a new criminal offences, five years have not passed.

Mitigation of Penalty

Article 56

The court may pronounce to a perpetrator of a criminal offence a penalty which is under statutory limits or a mitigated penalty, if:

1) Mitigation of penalty is provided by law;

2) The law provides for remittance from punishment of the offender and the court decides otherwise;

3) *The court finds that particularly mitigating circumstances exist indicating that the purpose of punishment may be achieved by a mitigated penalty.

Limits of Mitigation

Article 57

(1) When requirements for mitigation of penalty specified in Article 56 hereof are met, the court shall mitigate the penalty within the following limits:

1) if the lowest statutory penalty for the criminal offence is imprisonment of ten or more years, the sentence may be reduced to seven years imprisonment;

2) If the lowest statutory penalty for the criminal offence is imprisonment of five years, the sentence may be reduced to three years imprisonment;

3) If the lowest statutory penalty for the criminal offence is imprisonment of three years, the sentence may be reduced to one-year imprisonment;

4) If the lowest statutory penalty for the criminal offence is imprisonment of two years, the sentence may be reduced to six-month imprisonment;

5) If the lowest statutory penalty for the criminal offence is imprisonment up to one year, the sentence may be reduced to three months;

6) If the lowest statutory penalty for the criminal offence is imprisonment less than one year, the sentence may be reduced to thirty-day imprisonment;

7) If the statutory penalty for the criminal offence does not specify minimum sentence, imprisonment may be replaced by fine or community service;

8) If the statutory penalty for the criminal offence is a fine, the fine may be reduced up to a half of the minimum amount of the statutory fine.

(2) Exceptionally from the paragraph 1 of this Article, the court may not pronounce to a perpetrator of a criminal offence a penalty which is under statutory limits or a mitigated penalty for the criminal offences from the Articles 114*, 134 paragraph 2 and 3, 178, 179, 180, 214 paragraph 2 and 3, 246 paragraph 1, 3 and 4*, 350 paragraph 3 and 4 and 388 of this Law.

* Published in the Službeni glasnik RS, No. 35/19 of 21 May 2019.

(3) Exceptionally from the paragraph 1 of this Article, the court may not pronounce a mitigated penalty to person who is previously convicted for the *same or crime of the same type.

(4) When the court has powers of remittance from punishment, it may reduce the penalty without limitations stipulated in paragraph 1 to 3 of this Article.

Remittance of Punishment

Article 58

(1) The court may remit from punishment a perpetrator of a criminal offence only when so explicitly provided by law.

(2) The court may also remit from punishment a perpetrator of a criminal offence committed from negligence if the consequences of the offence affect the offender so strongly that imposing of penalty would obviously not serve the purpose of punishment.

(3) The court may also remit from punishment the perpetrator of a criminal offence punishable by imprisonment of up to five years if following the commission of the offence, and before learning that he has been uncovered, the offender eliminates the consequences of the offence or compensates damages caused by the criminal offence.

Settlement of the Offender and Victim

Article 59

The court may remit from punishment the perpetrator of a criminal offence punishable by up to three years' imprisonment or a fine if the offender has fulfilled all his obligations from an agreement reached with the victim.

Joinder of Offences

Article 60

(1) If an offender by one act or several acts has committed several criminal offences for which he is tried concurrently, the court shall first determine penalties for each of the offences respectively and shall then pronounce a single penalty.

(2) The court shall pronounce a single penalty in line with the following rules:

- 1) If a term of *life sentence has been determined for one of the criminal offences in joinder, only such sentence shall be pronounced;
- 2) If the court has determined imprisonment for criminal offences in joinder, it shall increase the most severe punishment, provided that the single sentence does not attain the sum of cumulative sentences, or exceed twenty years' imprisonment;
- 3) If prison sentences of maximum three years are prescribed for all criminal offences in joinder, the single sentence may not exceed ten years' imprisonment;
- 4) If only fines are determined for criminal offences in joinder, the court shall pronounce a single fine in the amount of the cumulative sum of determined fines, provided it does not exceed eighteen million dinars, and where the court determined particular amounts (Article 50), the fine may not exceed one million or ten million dinars when one or more offences were committed for gain;
- 5) If only community service is provided for criminal offences in joinder, the court shall pronounce a single penalty of community service, provided it does not exceed three hundred and sixty hours, and the time period within which community service is performed should not exceed six months.

* Published in the Službeni glasnik RS, No. 35/19 of 21 May 2019.

- 6) If imprisonment is provided for some criminal offences in joinder and a fine for others, the court shall pronounce a single fine pursuant to provisions of items 2 through 4 of this paragraph.

(3) The court shall pronounce a fine as secondary punishment if it has been prescribed for one of the criminal offences in joinder, and if the court has determined more than one fine it shall pronounce a single fine pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 2, item 4 of this Article. If the court determines a fine as principal penalty and also determines a fine as secondary penalty, it shall pronounce a single fine applying the rules specified in paragraph 2, item 4 of this Article.

(4) If the court determines imprisonment and juvenile detention as penalties for joinder of offences, a single penalty of imprisonment shall be pronounced by applying the rules specified in paragraph 2, item 2 of this Article.

Continuing Offence

Article 61

(1) A continuing offence comprises several identical offences or offences of the same type committed in temporal continuity by the same offender, representing a whole, due to existence of at least two of the following requirements: same victim, same type of object of the offence, use of same situation or same permanent relationship, same places or spaces of commission of the offence or same intent of offender.

(2) Offences against person may constitute continuing criminal offence only when perpetrated against the same person.

(3) Offences that by their nature do not allow combining into one offence cannot constitute continuing criminal offence.

(4) If a continuing criminal offence comprises both serious and less serious forms of the same offence, it shall be considered that the continuing criminal offence constitutes the most serious form of committed offences.

(5) If a continuing criminal offence comprises offences whose element is a pecuniary amount, it shall be considered that the continuing criminal offence achieved the sum of amounts achieved by individual offences, if comprised by single intent of the offender.

(6) A criminal offence which is not included in a continuing offence in a final court ruling shall constitute a separate criminal offence or be part of a separate continuing offence.

(7) Deleted

(8) Deleted

Sentencing

Article 62

(1) If a convicted person is tried for a criminal offence committed before commencement of serving of prison sentence for earlier conviction, or for a criminal offence committed in the course of serving prison sentence or juvenile detention, the court shall pronounce a single sentence for all criminal offences by applying the provisions of Article 60 hereof, taking into account the sentence pronounced earlier as an already determined penalty. The sentence or a part of the sentence the convicted person has already served shall be credited to the pronounced sentence of imprisonment.

(2) For a criminal offence committed in the course of serving a prison sentence or juvenile detention, the court shall pronounce a sentence to the offender, irrespective of previously pronounced sentence, if by application of the provisions of Article 60 hereof and due to the seriousness of the criminal offence and the remaining part of the earlier sentence, the purpose of punishment cannot be achieved.

(3) A convicted person who in the course of serving a prison sentence or juvenile detention commits an offence for which the law stipulates a fine or a term of imprisonment up to one year, shall receive disciplinary punishment.

Crediting Time in Detention and Earlier Sentence

Article 63

(1) The time spent in detention, in serving a measure of prohibition to leave the apartment, as well as any other deprivation of liberty in relation to a criminal offence shall be credited to the pronounced prison sentence, fine and community service.

(2) If a criminal procedure has been conducted for several criminal offences in joinder, and detention has not been ordered for each of them, the time spent in detention shall be credited to the pronounced prison sentence, fine and community service for the offence of which the accused is convicted.

(3) A prison sentence or a fine which the offender has served or paid for a misdemeanour or commercial offence, as well as sentence or disciplinary measure of depriving of liberty which the offender has served for violation of military discipline shall be credited to the sentence pronounced for a criminal offence whose elements comprise also the elements of a misdemeanour, commercial offence or violation of military discipline.

(4) For each crediting, a day spent in detention, a day of depriving of liberty, a day of imprisonment, a day of serving the measure of prohibition to leave the apartment, eight hours of community service and one thousand dinars of fine shall be deemed equal.

CHAPTER FIVE

CAUTIONARY MEASURES

1. Suspended Sentence and Judicial Admonition

Purpose of Suspended Sentence and Judicial Admonition

Article 64

(1) Cautionary measures are suspended sentence and judicial admonition.

(2) Within the general purpose of criminal sanctions (Article 4, paragraph 2), the purpose of a suspended sentence and judicial admonition is not to impose a sentence for lesser criminal offences to the offender who is guilty when it may be expected that an admonition with the threat of punishment (suspended sentence) or a caution alone (judicial admonition) will have sufficient effect on the offender to deter him from further commission of criminal offences.

Suspended Sentence

Article 65

(1) By suspended sentence the court determines punishment of the offender and concurrently determines that it shall not be enforced provided the convicted person does not commit a new offence during a period set by the court, which may not be less than one or longer than five years (probationary period).

(2) The court may order in suspended sentence that the penalty shall be enforced if the convicted person fails to restore material gain acquired through commission of the offence, fails to compensate damages caused by the offence or fails to fulfil other obligations provided in provisions of criminal legislation. The court shall set the time for fulfilling such obligations within the specified probationary period.

(3) Security measures ordered together with suspended sentence shall be enforced.

Requirements for Pronouncing a Suspended Sentence

Article 66

(1) A sentence of imprisonment of less than two years may be suspended.

(2) For criminal offences punishable by imprisonment up to *eight years or more the sentence may not be suspended.

(3) A suspended sentence may not be pronounced when more than five years have elapsed from the time the prison sentence *or parole pronounced to a perpetrator for premeditated criminal offence became final.

(4) In determining whether to pronounce a suspended sentence the court shall, having regard to the purpose of suspended sentence, particularly take into consideration the personality of the offender, his previous conduct, his conduct after committing the criminal offence, degree of culpability and other circumstances relevant to the commission of crime.

(5) If both a term of imprisonment and a fine are imposed, only the prison sentence may be suspended.

Revocation of Suspended Sentence due to New Criminal Offence

Article 67

(1) The court shall revoke a suspended sentence if the convicted person commits one or more criminal offences during probation and is sentenced to imprisonment of two years or more.

(2) If a convicted person during probation commits one or more criminal offences and is sentenced to imprisonment of less than two years or a fine, the court shall, after deliberating all circumstances relating to the committed offence and the offender, and particularly congruence of the offences, their significance and motivation for their commitment, decide whether to revoke the suspended sentence. In its deliberation the court shall be bound by the ban on suspending a sentence if the offender is to be sentenced to imprisonment for two years or longer for criminal offences determined in the suspended sentence and for new criminal offences (Article 66, paragraph 1).

(3) If the court revokes a suspended sentence, it shall pronounce a single prison sentence by applying the provisions of Article 60 hereof for both the previously committed and for new criminal offence, and assuming punishment from the revoked suspended sentence as already determined.

(4) If the court does not revoke a suspended sentence, it may pronounce a suspended sentence or a penalty for the new criminal offence. If convicted to a term of imprisonment for the new offence, time served for this sentence shall not be credited to time on probation as determined in the suspended sentence for the previous offence.

(5) If the court decides that a suspended sentence should be pronounced for the new offence as well, it shall by applying the provisions of Article 60 hereof determine a single sentence for both the previous and the new criminal offence, and shall specify a new probation period that may not be less than one year or longer than five years, counting from the day when the new judgement becomes final. If the convicted person in the course of the new probation period commits a criminal offence, the court shall revoke the suspended sentence and impose imprisonment, applying the provisions of paragraph 3 of this Article.

* Published in the Službeni glasnik RS, No. 35/19 of 21 May 2019.

Revocation of a Suspended Sentence due to a Previously Committed Criminal Offence

Article 68

(1) The court shall revoke a suspended sentence if, after its pronouncement, the court determines that the convicted person committed a criminal offence prior to ordering of a suspended sentence and if in the consideration of the court there would have been no grounds for ordering a suspended sentence had such offence been known. In such cases, Article 67, paragraph 3 hereof shall apply.

(2) If the court does not revoke a suspended sentence, provision of Article 67, paragraph 4 hereof shall apply.

Revocation of Suspended Sentence due to Failure to Meet Particular Obligations

Article 69

If by suspended sentence the convicted person is ordered to fulfil particular obligations referred to in Article 65, paragraph 2 hereof, and he fails to fulfil such obligation within the period set in the judgement, the court may extend the deadline during the period of probation, or may revoke the suspended sentence and order the penalty determined in the suspended sentence. If the court establishes that the convicted person is unable to fulfil the obligation on justifiable grounds, it may release him from such obligation or replace it by another appropriate obligation provided by law.

Time-limits for Revocation of a Suspended Sentence

Article 70

(1) A suspended sentence may be revoked during the probationary period. If in this period a convicted person commits a criminal offence, which entails a revocation of suspended sentence, whereas this is determined by judgement after the expiry of the probationary period, the suspended sentence may be revoked not later than one year from the day the probationary period expired.

(2) If a convicted person fails to meet an obligation referred to in Article 65, paragraph 2 hereof within the specified time, the court may, not later than one year from expiry of the probationary period, order enforcement of the punishment set forth in the suspended sentence.

(3) After the imposition of a suspended sentence determines that the convicted person committed a crime before he was suspended sentenced, therefore would not be the basis for the imposition of a suspended sentence, suspended sentence may be revoked within one year from the date when the elapsed time of probation.

Suspended Sentence with Protective Supervision

Article 71

(1) The court may order protective supervision of an offender under suspended sentence during probation.

(2) Protective supervision includes assistance, care and protection measures provided by law.

(3) If the court establishes during the course of protective supervision that the purpose of this measure has been achieved, it may terminate protective supervision before the expiry of the specified time period.

(4) If a convicted person under protective supervision fails to fulfil the obligations ordered by the court, the court may caution such person or may replace the previous obligation by another or extend protective supervision within the probation period or revoke the suspended sentence.

Requirements for Ordering Protective Supervision

Article 72

(1) When pronouncing a suspended sentence, the court may order protective supervision of the offender if, considering his personality, previous conduct, attitude after committing of the offence and particularly his attitude towards the victim of the offence and circumstance of its commission, it may be assumed that protective supervision would enhance achieving the purpose of suspended sentence.

(2) The court orders protective supervision in the judgement pronouncing suspended sentence and determines measures of protective supervision, duration and manner of implementation thereof.

Protective Supervision

Article 73

Protective supervision may comprise one or more of the following obligations:

1) Reporting to competent authority for enforcement of protective supervision within periods set by such authority;

2) Training of the offender for a particular profession;

3) Accepting employment consistent with the offender's abilities;

4) Fulfillment of the obligation to support family, care and rising of children and other family duties;

5) Refraining from visiting particular places, establishment or events if that may present an opportunity or incentive to re-commit criminal offences;

6) Timely notification of the change of residence, address or place of work;

7) Refraining from drug and alcohol abuse;

8) Treatment in a competent medical institution;

9) Visiting particular professional and other counselling centres or institutions and adhering to their instructions;

10) Eliminating or mitigating the damage caused by the offence, particularly reconciliation with the victim of the offence.

Selecting Measures of Protective Supervision

Article 74

In selecting the obligations set forth in Article 73 hereof, the court shall particularly have regard to the age of an offender, his health, affinities and habits, motives from which he committed the offence, conduct after commission of the offence, earlier conduct, personal and family situation, ability to meet the ordered obligations as well as other circumstances pertinent to the personality of the offender which bear relevance to the selection of the measures for protective supervision and duration thereof.

Duration of Protective Supervision

Article 75

(1) Duration of protective supervision measures is set within the probationary period determined in the suspended sentence.

(2) Protective supervision shall cease by revocation of the suspended sentence.

(3) For the duration of protective supervision the court may, given the results achieved, set aside particular obligations or replace them with others.

(4) If during protective supervision the court determines that the objective of such measure has been achieved, it may end the protective supervision before expiry of the specified period.

Consequences of Failure to Fulfil Protective Supervision Requirements

Article 76

If the convicted person under protective measures fails to fulfil the obligations ordered by the court, the court may caution him or replace the previously ordered obligation by another or extend the duration of protective supervision within the probationary period or revoke suspended sentence.

Judicial Caution

Article 77

(1) Judicial caution may be pronounced for criminal offences punishable by imprisonment less than one year or fine, which have been committed under such extenuating circumstances that they render them particularly minor.

(2) For particular criminal offences and under conditions provided by law, a judicial caution may be pronounced even when such offences are punishable by imprisonment up to three years.

(3) The court may pronounce caution for joinder of offences provided requirements specified in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article have been established for each of them.

(4) In deliberating whether to pronounce a judicial caution, the court shall, having regard to the purpose of the caution, particularly take into consideration the personality of the offender, his past conduct, his conduct after commission of the offence, and specifically his attitude to the victim of the offence, degree of culpability and other circumstances under which the offence was committed.

(5) Judicial caution may not be pronounced to members of armed forces for criminal offences against the Army of Serbia.

CHAPTER SIX

SECURITY MEASURES

Purpose of Security Measures

Article 78

Within the general purpose of criminal sanctions (Article 4, paragraph 2), the purpose of security measures is to eliminate circumstances or conditions that may have influence on an offender to commit criminal offences in future.

Types of Security Measures

Article 79

(1) The following security measures may be ordered to offender:

- 1) Compulsory psychiatric treatment and confinement in a medical institution;
- 2) Compulsory psychiatric treatment at liberty;
- 3) Compulsory drug addiction treatment;
- 4) Compulsory alcohol addiction treatment;
- 5) Prohibition from practising a profession, activity or duty;
- 6) Prohibition to drive a motor vehicle;
- 7) Confiscation of objects;
- 8) Expulsion of a foreigner from the country;
- 9) Publishing of judgement;
- 10) Prohibiting convergence and communication with victim,
- 11) Prohibition from attending certain sports events.

(2) Under the conditions prescribed by this Code, certain security measures may be imposed on a mentally incompetent person who committed unlawful act provided under law as a criminal offence (Article 80, paragraph 2).

Ordering Security Measures

Article 80

(1) Where grounds under this Code exist, the court may impose one or more security measures on an offender.

(2) Compulsory psychiatric treatment and confinement in a medical institution and compulsory psychiatric treatment at liberty shall be imposed as an individual sanction on a mentally incompetent criminal offender. In addition to these measures, ban on practising certain profession, activity or duty, ban on driving a motor vehicle and confiscation of objects may also be ordered.

(3) Measures specified in paragraph 2 of this Article may be ordered to an offender whose mental capacity is substantially impaired, if under pronouncement of a penalty or suspended sentence.

(4) Compulsory drug addiction treatment, compulsory alcohol addiction treatment, ban on practising particular profession, activity or duty, ban on driving a motor vehicle, confiscation of objects and publishing of judgement may be ordered if the offender is under pronouncement of penalty, suspended sentence, judicial caution or if the offender is remitted from punishment.

(5) Expulsion of a foreigner from the country and prohibition from attending certain sports events may be pronounced if an offender is under pronouncement of penalty or suspended sentence.

(6) Measure Prohibiting convergence and communication with victim may be imposed if the perpetrator is punished with fine, the community service, and prohibition to drive motor vehicle, suspended sentence and judicial caution.

(7) For joinder of criminal offences a security measure shall be ordered if determined for one of the offences in joinder.

Compulsory Psychiatric Treatment and Confinement in a Medical Institution

Article 81

(1) The court shall order compulsory psychiatric treatment and confinement in a medical institution to an offender who committed a criminal offence in a state of substantially impaired mental capacity if, due to the committed offence and the state of mental disturbance, it determines that there is a risk that the offender may commit a more serious criminal offence and that in order to eliminate this risk they require medical treatment in such institution.

(2) If the requirements referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article are met, the court shall order compulsory treatment and confinement in a medical institution to an offender who in state of mental incompetence committed an unlawful act provided under law as a criminal offence.

(3) The court shall discontinue the measure referred to in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this Article when it determines that the need for treatment and confinement of the offender in a medical institution no longer exist.

(4) The measure specified in paragraph 1 of this Article when ordered together with a term of imprisonment may last longer than the pronounced sentence.

(5) Time spent in a medical institution by the offender who committed a criminal offence in a state of substantially impaired mental capacity and who has been sentenced to prison shall be credited to serving of the pronounced sentence. If time spent in a medical institution is less than the pronounced prison sentence, the court shall order, upon termination of the security measure, that the convicted person is remanded to prison to serve the remainder of the sentence or released her on parole. In deliberating to grant parole the court shall, in addition to requirements set forth in Article 46 hereof, particularly take into consideration the degree of success of treatment of the convicted person, his medical condition, time spent in the medical institution and the remaining part of the sentence.

Compulsory Psychiatric Treatment at Liberty

Article 82

(1) The court shall order compulsory psychiatric treatment at liberty to an offender who has committed an unlawful act provided under law as a criminal offence in a state of mental incapacity if it determines that danger exists that the offender may again commit an unlawful act provided under law as a criminal offence, and that treatment at liberty is sufficient to eliminate such danger.

(2) The measure specified in paragraph 1 of this Article may be ordered to a mentally incompetent perpetrator under compulsory psychiatric treatment and confinement in a medical institution when the court determines, based on results of medical treatment, that his further treatment and confinement in a medical institution is no longer required and that treatment at liberty would be sufficient.

(3) Under conditions specified in paragraph 1 of this Article, the court may also order compulsory psychiatric treatment at liberty to an offender whose mental competence is substantially impaired if he is under a suspended sentence or released on probation pursuant to Article 81, paragraph 5 hereof.

(4) Compulsory psychiatric treatment at liberty may be undertaken periodically in particular medical institution if necessary for a successful treatment, with the proviso that periodical institutional treatment may not exceed fifteen days in continuity or two months in aggregate.

(5) Compulsory psychiatric treatment at liberty shall last as long as there is a need for treatment, but may not exceed three years.

(6) If in case referred in paragraphs 1 through 3 of this Article, the offender does not comply with treatment at liberty or abandons it of his own volition, or if despite treatment, danger of committing an unlawful act provided under law as a criminal offence is reasserted, which necessitates his treatment and confinement in an appropriate medical institution, the court may order compulsory psychiatric treatment and confinement in such institution.

Compulsory Drug Addiction Treatment

Article 83

(1) The court shall order compulsory treatment to an offender who has committed a criminal offence due to addiction to narcotics and if there is a serious danger that he may continue committing criminal offences due to this addiction.

(2) The measure specified in paragraph 1 of this Article shall be carried out in a penitentiary institution or in an appropriate medical or other specialised institution and shall last as long as there is a need for treatment, but not more than three years.

(3) When the measure referred in paragraph 1 of this Article is ordered together with a term of imprisonment, duration thereof may exceed the pronounced sentence but its overall duration shall not exceed three years.

(4) The time spent in the institution for medical treatment shall be credited to the prison sentence.

(5) If the measure referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article is pronounced together with a fine, a suspended sentence, judicial caution or remittance of punishment, it shall be carried out at liberty and may not exceed three years.

(6) If an offender without justifiable reasons fails to undertake treatment at liberty or abandons treatment at his own volition, the court shall order coercive enforcement of such measure in an appropriate medical or other specialised institution.

Compulsory Alcohol Addiction Treatment

Article 84

(1) The court shall order compulsory treatment to an offender who has committed a criminal offence due to addiction on alcohol abuse and if there is serious threat that he may continue to commit offences due to such addiction.

(2) The measure specified in paragraph 1 of this Article shall be carried out in a penitentiary institution or an appropriate medical or other specialised institution and shall last as long as there is need for treatment, but may not exceed the duration of the pronounced prison sentence.

(3) The time spent in an institution for medical treatment shall be credited against the prison sentence.

(4) If the measure specified in paragraph 1 of this Article is ordered together with a fine, suspended sentence, judicial caution or remittance of punishment, it shall be carried out at liberty and may not exceed two years.

(5) If without justified reasons, an offender fails to undertake treatment at liberty or abandons treatment at his own volition, the court shall order the coercive enforcement of the measure in an appropriate medical or other specialised institution.

Prohibition to Practise a Profession, Activity or Duty

Article 85

(1) The court may prohibit an offender from practising a particular profession, activity, or all or certain duties related to the disposition, use, management or handling of another's property or taking care of that property, if it is reasonably believed that his further exercise of that duty would be dangerous.

(2) The court shall determine the duration of the measure referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article that may not be less than one more than ten years, calculated from the day the judgement became final, and the time spent in a prison or medical institution where the security measure has been exercised shall not be credited to the term of this measure.

(3) If ordering a suspended sentence, the court may order revoking of such sentence if the offender violates the prohibition to practise a particular profession, activity or duty.

Prohibition to Drive a Motor Vehicle

Article 86

(1) The court may order a ban on driving a motor vehicle to an offender who committed a criminal offence of endangering road safety.

(2) In ordering the measure specified in paragraph 1 of this Article the court shall determine the type and category of vehicles covered by the ban.

- (2) In the event when after the judgement becomes final, pursuant to which legal consequences of conviction have set in, such judgement is revised due to extraordinary legal remedy, the set-in or further continuation of legal consequences of conviction shall be harmonised with the new decision.
- (3) Legal consequences of conviction comprising a ban on acquiring particular rights may be ordered for maximum duration of ten years.
- (4) Time spent serving a penalty shall not be credited to duration of legal consequences of conviction.
- (5) Legal consequences of conviction provided under Article 95, paragraph 2 hereof shall cease by rehabilitation.

CHAPTER NINE

REHABILITATION, END OF LEGAL CONSEQUENCES OF CONVICTION AND DISCLOSURE OF DATA FROM CRIMINAL RECORDS

General Concept of Rehabilitation

Article 97

- (1) Rehabilitation shall delete conviction and terminate all legal consequences thereof, and the convicted person shall be deemed with no criminal record.
- (2) Rehabilitation occurs either by virtue of law itself (legal rehabilitation) or by petition of the convicted person pursuant to decision of the court (judicial rehabilitation).
- (3) Rehabilitation shall not prejudice the rights of third parties deriving from the conviction.

Legal Rehabilitation

Article 98

(1) Legal rehabilitation may be granted only to persons who, prior to conviction in respect of relevant rehabilitation, had no prior convictions or are by law considered without prior convictions.

(2) Legal rehabilitation ensues if:

- 1) The person convicted but remitted of a penalty, or under pronouncement of judicial admonition, does not commit any new criminal offence within one year after the judgement becomes final;
- 2) The person under a suspended sentence does not commit any new criminal offence during probation period and within one year after the end of probation;
- 3) The person sentenced to a fine, community service, revocation of driving licence or imprisonment up to six months does not commit any new criminal offence within the period of three years after the penalty is enforced, is under statute of limitations or remitted;
- 4) The person sentenced to imprisonment of six months to one year does not commit any new criminal offence within the period of five years after the penalty is enforced, is under statute of limitations or remitted.
- 5) The person sentenced to imprisonment of one to three years does not commit any new criminal offence within the period of ten years after the penalty is enforced, is under statute of limitations or remitted.

(3) Legal rehabilitation shall not ensue if the secondary penalty has not been enforced or if security measures are still in force.

Judicial Rehabilitation

Article 99

(1) Judicial rehabilitation may be granted to a person sentenced to imprisonment of three to five years, if within the period of ten years after such sentence is served, is under statute of limitations or remitted, that person does not commit a new criminal offence.

(2) In the case referred to in paragraphs 1 this Article, the court shall grant rehabilitation if it finds that the convicted person deserves rehabilitation due to his conduct and if, according to his financial abilities, he has compensated for the damages caused by his criminal offence, and the court is obliged to take into consideration all other circumstances of relevance for granting rehabilitation, and particularly the nature and significance of the offence.

(3) Judicial rehabilitation may not be granted if a secondary penalty has not yet been enforced or if security measures are still in force.

Judicial Rehabilitation of Persons with Prior Convictions

Article 100

The court may grant rehabilitation of a person who has been convicted several times only if requirements referred to in Articles 98 and 99 hereof are satisfied in respect to each of criminal offences that such person has been convicted for. In deliberating whether to grant rehabilitation in such case, the court shall take into consideration all circumstances referred to in Article 99, paragraph 2 hereof.

Termination of Legal Consequences of Conviction

Article 101

(1) After expiry of three years of a sentence served, under statute of limitations or remitted, the court may rule to terminate the legal consequences of conviction in respect of ban to acquire a particular right, unless this has occurred by virtue of rehabilitation.

(2) In deliberating to terminate legal consequences of conviction, the court shall take into consideration the convicted person's conduct after conviction, whether he has compensated for the damage caused by his criminal offence and returned the property gain acquired by the offence, and other circumstances that may indicate to the justifiability of terminating of legal consequences of conviction.

Content and Disclosure of Data from Criminal Records

Article 102

(1) Criminal records contain personal data of the offender, data on penalty, suspended sentence, judicial caution, remittance from punishment and pardon, and data on legal consequences of conviction. Criminal record shall contain subsequent changes of data therein, information on serving of sentence as well as cancellation of records in respect of wrong conviction.

(2) Data from criminal records may be disclosed only to a court, the state prosecutor and police in respect of criminal proceedings conducted against a person with prior convictions, the body in charge of enforcement of criminal sanctions and the body involved in the procedure of granting amnesty, pardon, rehabilitation or deciding on termination of legal consequences of conviction, and to social welfare authorities when so required to discharge duties under their competence. Data from criminal records may be disclosed to the other government authority responsible to identify and prevent committing of criminal offences when it is determined by the special law.

(3) Data from criminal records may also be disclosed upon reasoned request to a government authority, enterprise, other organisation or entrepreneur, if legal consequences of a conviction or security measures are still in force and if there exists a justified reason based on law.

(4) No one shall be entitled to request a citizen to submit any evidence on his prior convictions or non-existence of such convictions.

(5) Citizens may be given, at their request, data on prior convictions, if any.

(6) Data on deleted conviction may not be given to anyone.
